

Transit ridership remains low

Due to distancing concerns, work from home arrangements and a continued reduction in service, many riders haven't yet returned to using buses or rail in the metro area.

